

Hello Mary,
Your reading is prepared!

“Card of the Day”

Card: The Fool (Upright position)

Your strengths and warnings

You are now living for the day. You are light of foot, genuine and open to the world. The card stands for spontaneous development of something new that is about to become a part of your life.

You have a new path ahead of you and it could lead you anywhere. Things might develop in an unexpected way. Sometimes you should take a risk, venture to act in an original way. You can afford to be a novice today. Have a new experience and explore the mysteries of life.

Do not take anything to heart, but be curious about everything.

If there is a problem hanging over you – look at it from a new angle. Maybe the rules you are following are too limited for this situation. You have imposed these limits on yourself and it is in your power to broaden them and make your life more exciting.

If you have to start a project from scratch today, do not fret and start it with zeal. No matter how simple it is, this project will bring you many exciting discoveries and enrich you spiritually.

Family and destiny

You might have a new member of your family – a child. Not only will it change the life of the family, it will bring your relatives closer together. You must spend more time with the child and teach them. You can also learn curiosity and unique perception of the world from them.

If you are ill, The Fool recommends turning to alternative medicine.

If you are planning surgeries and they are not an emergency, it is best to postpone them for another day.

Love and relationships

You and your partner are happy, cheerful and perfectly at ease with each other. You are willing to discover something new about your partner every day. You love each other for uniqueness.

The card might stand for a new life or freshening up an old relationship with new emotions. Inject new life into your relationship and watch it develop in a positive way.

Work and business

You are about to enter a new unfamiliar field. This is a great time for new beginnings and decisive action. You can change your occupation, open up new markets, branches and even businesses. You will be brave and skillful enough to handle new tasks.

The card also stands for cooperation with younger people and visiting new places.

But be careful with personal savings. You must only invest in reliable projects and not take risks. Your personal savings must be in reliable financial instruments – bank deposits and stable bonds.

Card's general advice

Play a new game. Open up your heart and find your inner child.

Control Your Life!

www.TarotCave.com